

What does a gal distribution box represent

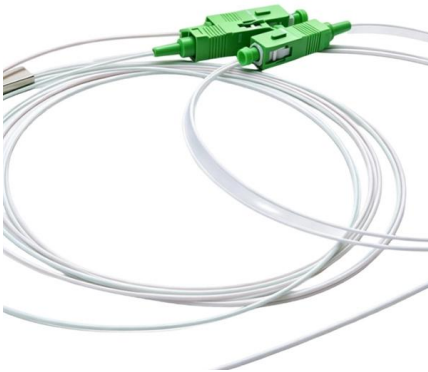

Overview

The Global Address List (GAL) is a searchable directory that contains all mail-enabled recipient objects in an Exchange Online (Microsoft 365). You can filter by recipient type (for example, mailboxes and mail contacts), recipient properties (for example, Company or State or Province), or both. This article will guide you through the essential tasks involved in managing a GAL to keep it accurate, up-to-date, and organized. However, the concept has broader implications across various computing and networking environments.
